

He Cares, He Really Does: He's up for re-re-re-election.

Renowned in his North Tampa district (where he's now term-limited out) for being inaccessible and indifferent to citizen concerns. Notorious countywide for ducking public forums and candidate debates where he'd actually be held accountable to direct public questioning, Ken "Half Truth" Hagan is suddenly all ears and pleading for our input on the County's spending and taxation priorities?! Now that they've mismanaged their way into a serious fiscal pickle, of course.

Ken Hagan, Chair, Hillsborough County Board of County Commissioners and his staff are suddenly out canvassing the neighborhoods where he'll need votes for his upcoming Countywide Election, dropping Buddy Johnson-style self-promotional door hanger-flyers w/ detachable questionnaire reply postcards and a list of County Services phone numbers. Bust mostly, they feature Ken "Sell Cone Ranch to My Rich Buddies So They Can Make Millions Off A Public Asset" Hagan's name (including his snail and email addresses) no less than five times (!!!!!), his name and title: Ken Hagan, Chair, Hillsborough County Board of County Commissioners 3 times. The dominant graphic feature of this purported voter feedback and information piece from your BOCC? In perfect Buddy Johnson style, a big smiling picture of himself (only), captioned (in bold letters in case you missed it the other 4 times): Ken Hagan, Chair, Hillsborough County Board of County Commissioners .

More not-so-thinly veiled campaign literature and yet, not qualified anywhere as such. Gee whiz, thanks for asking, Mr. Ken Hagan, Chair, Hillsborough County Board of County Commissioners. It also says twice that the piece was "Not produced at taxpayer 's expense ." (Letter spacing typo included). Then whose money was it?? The wealthy partisan fundraisers he's shilling Cone Ranch for, perhaps??? And why isn't it from the BOCC as a whole? Don't his six fellow public servants want to hear from us, too?

Mmmmm....?
